Ideas/questions to explore in your setting

- Invite children to paint or draw to music by asking them if their hands can dance.
- Invite children to listen to music and then draw a picture about what it made them think of.
- Play music in the mark making area – does it impact how children paint/draw? It may enhance some children's listening whilst it may distract other children's focus and learning in the area. Is there a way that you can provide positive opportunities for children without distracting others?
